

Human Rights Statement

Ehata for Consultancy and Training LTD. (“Ehata”) is committed to respecting and promoting human rights in all aspects of its operations. As a Libyan-owned and internationally oriented consultancy, Ehata aligns its work with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.

Ehata upholds the following principles:

- Non-Discrimination & Equal Opportunity: We ensure equal treatment of all clients, partners, and employees regardless of race, gender, religion, political belief, nationality, or social background.
- Respect for Dignity & Privacy: All intelligence, risk assessments, and consultancy services are carried out with the highest regard for individual dignity, lawful privacy rights, and ethical boundaries.
- No Complicity in Human Rights Abuses: Ehata does not engage in, support, or enable unlawful surveillance, espionage, cybercrime, or activities that may contribute to human rights violations.
- Safe Work & Professional Integrity: We maintain a safe, respectful, and professional environment for our staff and partners, encouraging transparency, accountability, and ethical conduct.

This commitment applies to all Ehata activities, including risk assessments, information gathering, private investigations, and training services, and forms an integral part of our mission to support resilience and stability in complex environments.
